Environmental, Social, and Governance Mission Statement

RPT Realty's (RPT) mission is to positively impact the communities where we work and operate through our Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) initiatives. We intent to accomplish this by holding ourselves and our stakeholders to the highest standards, conducting business in an ethical and transparent manner and operating with integrity and accountability. We believe this will result in a long-term sustainable business model that creates value for our shareholders and equity with our stakeholders.

Message from the CEO

A few years ago, we took the opportunity to clarify what we stand for by articulating RPT's purpose. We adopted the purpose — "Turning Commercial Ground into Common Ground" — that not only reflects our identity, but also demonstrates our commitment to creating positive ESG outcomes for our tenants, shareholders, employees and the communities we serve. Our purpose guides our day-to-day actions and reflects our responsibility to become a more sustainable organization. In our second annual Corporate Sustainability Report, we highlight how our actions over the past year have made RPT a more sustainable company, and we provide insight into our ESG aspirations for the coming years.

Environment: Our environmental initiatives aim to safeguard the environment and improve the energy efficiency of our portfolio while lowering operating costs. To accomplish this, we have established measurable goals to reduce energy consumption, water usage and waste production across our portfolio.

- We reduced electricity consumption in 2021 in landlord-controlled areas by 10.7% (compared to 2018), positioning us to reach our goal of 25% by 2026.
- We saved almost 35 million gallons of water in 2021 (compared to 2019); more than twice our goal.
- As of December 31, 2021, we diverted 20% of landlord-controlled shopping center waste from landfills, providing momentum to hit our goal of 35% by 2023.
- We achieved the Gold level award as a Green Lease Leader. Managed by the Institute for Market Transformation and the U.S. Department of Energy's Better Buildings Alliance, the Green Lease Leaders program recognizes landlords who employ green leasing to foster high-performance and efficiency, and therefore, create healthier buildings.

Social: RPT's commitment to ESG principles starts with our most important asset, our employees. We aspire to create a culture that intentionally attracts and retains talented employees to work in an engaging and energetic team environment with a shared passion for innovation, transparency and excellence. We expect our employees to treat people with respect and dignity, encourage diversity, promote equal opportunities for all and help create an inclusive and ethical culture.

- We have been recognized for multiple awards in 2021, including Crain's Detroit: Cool Places to Work; Best Bosses by GlobeSt. Real Estate Forum; Top Work Places Detroit Free Press; Healthiest Employers of NYC and Best and Brightest in Wellness, to name a few.
- Based on an employee engagement survey in August, 98% of respondents believe RPT is a great place to work. Our goal is to make RPT the best place to work and build a career in the commercial real estate industry.
- In 2021, we experienced a voluntary turnover rate of 11%, which was below the national average. We continue to invest in our team members through individual and company-wide trainings, providing a path for stable, long-term professional growth.

- RPT remains highly engaged in our communities. Our employees volunteered virtually and in-person for numerous causes and organizations and gave nearly $40,000 through individual donations and corporate matching funds. In addition to this philanthropic activity, our property teams reinstated some of our most popular on-site events including walking clubs, Touch-A-Truck and Little Free Libraries.
- As a result of our Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DE&I) program, 25% of our new hires in 2021 were diverse candidates. We have partnered with Jopwell, an organization that represents and advances careers for Black, Latinx, and Native American students and professionals, in addition to developing an outreach program to several Historically Black Colleges and Universities in 2021.

Governance: We believe that effective corporate governance is critical to creating value for our stakeholders and requires a culture that demands integrity and high ethical standards.

- Last year, we considered ESG goals as part of the subjective executive performance component of our 2021 annual incentive program. For 2022, ESG goals will be an even larger, separate component of the annual bonus opportunity for RPT's named executive officers.
- In 2021, we implemented an Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) program which is sponsored and overseen by RPT's Audit Committee and executive management team, and includes an internal Risk Committee that governs RPT's operational, financial, and legal risk.

RPT's commitment to being a strong corporate citizen across all facets of our business is clear and we recognize transparent reporting of our progress is a crucial component to achieving our long-term goal of delivering value to all our stakeholders. We are proud of what we have achieved and are eager to meet the challenges that lie ahead. Together, we are building something truly amazing, and I remain excited and hopeful that RPT will continue to deliver on our purpose of Turning Commercial Ground into Common Ground.

Yours Truly,

BRIAN H. HARPER

PRESIDENT & CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

About

RPT Realty owns and operates a national portfolio of open-air shopping destinations principally located in top U.S. markets. Our shopping centers offer diverse, locally-curated consumer experiences that reflect the lifestyles of their surrounding communities and meet the modern expectations of our retail partners. We are a fully integrated and self-administered REIT publicly traded on the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) under the ticker symbol “RPT”.

At the end of 2021, RPT’s property portfolio (the “aggregate portfolio”) consisted of 47 wholly-owned shopping centers, ten shopping centers owned through its grocery anchored joint venture (R2G) and, 39 retail properties owned through its net lease joint venture (RGMZ), which together represent 14.6 million square feet of gross leasable area.

Our Strategy

Our primary business goals are to increase operating cash flows, while reducing cash flow risk to deliver shareholder returns. Specifically, we pursue the following strategies to achieve these goals:

Capitalize on accretive acquisition opportunities of open-air shopping centers through our balance sheet and complementary joint venture platforms.

We pursue growth through the strategic acquisition of attractively priced open-air shopping centers and subdivide the asset between our balance sheet and our single tenant, net lease joint venture platform, highlighting the meaningful arbitrage opportunities that we can create for our shareholders.

Acquire high quality open-air shopping centers and single-tenant, net lease retail assets in the top U.S. metropolitan statistical areas (MSA).

Our data-driven and stringent criteria for acquisition opportunities include a strong demographic profile, educational attainment, tech/life science/university adjacencies, pro-business environments, job growth, high exposure to essential tenants, tenant credit/term and an attractive risk adjusted return.

Disciplined capital recycling strategy.

We employ a data-driven and rigorous investment management strategy by selectively selling assets with returns and value that have been maximized and redeploying the capital into leasing, redevelopment, and acquisition of properties.

Remerchandise and redevelop our assets.

Our strategy is to strategically remerchandise and redevelop certain properties from our existing portfolio where we have significant pre-leasing and can improve tenant credit and term, enhance the merchandising mix or augment the consumer experience with an alternative non-retail use, while generating attractive returns, and driving meaningful value creation.

Hands-on active asset management.

We proactively manage our properties, employ data-driven targeted leasing strategies, maintain strong tenant relationships, drive rent and occupancy, focus on reducing operating expenses and property capital expenditures, and attract high quality and creditworthy tenants; all of which we believe enhances the value of our properties.

Curate our real estate to align with the current and future shopping center landscape.

We intend to leverage technology and data, optimize distribution points for brick-and-mortar and e-commerce purchases, engage in best-in-class sustainability programs and create an optimal merchandising mix to continue to attract and engage our shoppers.

Maintain a strong, flexible and investment grade balance sheet.

Our strategy is to maintain low leverage and high liquidity, proactively manage and stagger our debt maturities, and retain access to diverse sources of capital to support the business in any environment.

Retain motivated, talented and high performing employees.

To facilitate the attraction, retention and promotion of a talented and diverse workforce, we provide competitive compensation, best-in-class benefits, health and wellness programs, and champion programs that build connections between our employees and the communities where they live and at the properties we own.

Stakeholder Goals

With ongoing engagement occurring throughout the year, stakeholders can feel confident that their voices are heard regarding company matters, including ESG initiatives. In order to capture input, we have made it a priority to allow stakeholders that are not regularly involved in ESG discussions, but have essential input and are effected by the outcomes, to participate in a Materiality Assessment for informing ongoing ESG strategy. Our inaugural Materiality Assessment occurred in September 2021 and captured input from the following teams:

- C-suite leadership
- Board of Trustees
- Investors
- Leasing
- Joint venture partners

RPT engaged Goby, an external consultant, to identify the potential list of topics that are material to RPT. These items were informed by industry standards and peer research and were finalized by the RPT team. Subsequent Materiality Assessments may expand the number of stakeholders included, and material topics may evolve as we continue on our ESG journey.

Environmental

At RPT, we are determined to become a model environmental steward by implementing measures that will substantially reduce our carbon footprint and consumption of natural resources. The implementation of our company-wide ESG Policy in 2019 served as the foundation for our environmental goals and served as the basis for growth through 2021.

Our sustainability initiatives aim to safeguard the environment and improve the energy efficiency of our portfolio while lowering operating costs. Accordingly, we have established measurable goals to reduce energy consumption, water usage and waste production across our portfolio.

Electricity

Our goal is to reduce electricity consumption in landlord-controlled areas by 25% by 2026 using 2018 as the base year. As shown in the table below, as of the end of 2021 we have reduced common area electricity by 10.7%. We expect continued success towards our goal through expansion of our LED lighting installation plan. Additionally, we are installing an Energy Management System that will give our operations team real-time notice of any lighting outages and remote-control over lighting.

Furthermore, our energy consumption reduction efforts include the installation of motion sensor lighting for interior common areas, installation of high-efficiency HVAC equipment, roof upgrades, including white roof replacements where appropriate. We are also piloting smart building technologies at two of our shopping centers.

Common Area Electricity Performance: 2018 to 2021 in KWh*

Water

Our goal is to reduce common area water consumption by 20% by 2024 using 2019 as the base year. Our goal focuses on the reduction of water consumed at shopping centers through common area irrigation. A 20% reduction in irrigation consumption would result in a savings of over 17 million gallons of water. As indicated in the graph below, by the end of 2021, we saved almost 35 million gallons of water annually; more than twice our goal. Through the installation of smart irrigation systems, drought tolerant landscaping, and, where possible, the reuse of storm and greywater we believe we can continue to improve our performance. Our smart irrigation systems include leak detection systems, which will give our operations team immediate notice of a leak in the system. We are also committed to installing separate water metering for tenants where appropriate.

Common Area Irrigation Water Performance: 2019 to 2021 in kGal*

*Exterior common area electricity and irrigation for shopping centers owned for a full year. Shopping centers acquired subsequent to 2018 are not included. Shopping centers sold subsequent to 2018 are removed for all years.
Percentage variance compares annual to baseline consumption. Annual consumption based on meter read date.

Waste

Our goal is to divert 35% of all landlord-controlled shopping center waste from landfills by 2023. In April of 2021, RPT partnered with Complete Solutions to implement a portfolio wide waste program to include common area and tenant recycling. A portion of this program includes partnering with our tenants to emphasize the importance of recycling correctly to avoid contaminating recyclable materials.

*Diversion rate calculation assumes all containers are full when emptied and assumes the following weight per container: Municipal Solid Waste - 150lbs/yd, Old Corrugated Cardboard - 50.8lbs/yd, Single Stream Recycle - 139lbs/yd

Greenhouse Gas

In 2020, we added the reduction of our greenhouse gas emissions as a goal. Our goal is to reduce landlord-controlled scope 1 and scope 2 greenhouse gas emissions at our shopping center by 25% by 2026 using 2019 as a baseline.

Additionally, vendors we contract with are expected to reduce their carbon footprint and undertake reasonable sustainability initiatives within their own businesses. We expect our vendors to share our commitment to sustainability by meeting or exceeding the requirements of environmental laws and regulations and promoting acceptable levels of energy consumption, water use and waste management. We also aspire to have our vendors comply with the tenets of the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) providing additional transparency to our own stakeholders and investors.

ESG Highlight

RPT understands the value of sustainable landlord-tenant relationships, and in 2021 achieved the Gold level award as a Green Lease Leader. Managed by the Institute for Market Transformation and the U.S. Department of Energy's Better Buildings Alliance, the Green Lease Leaders program recognizes landlords who employ green leasing to foster high-performance and efficiency, and therefore, create healthier buildings.

Through RPT's efforts in green leasing, the Company achieved the highest possible award in the program. "The Gold designation reflects our commitment to high performance and sustainability in buildings and best practice leasing," said Brian Harper, President and CEO. "This milestone will be the first of many as we continue to advance our commitment to sustainability, which we believe to be a vital part of supporting our primary goal of maximizing value for our shareholders."

Not only will the continued implementation of green leases aid RPT in achieving portfolio reduction goals, but the benefits expand beyond the Company and foster the alignment of ESG goals in the landlord-tenant relationship. Greater transparency provides greater opportunity for sustainable practices across both parties.

This milestone will be the first of many as we continue to advance our commitment to sustainability...

Social

RPT's commitment to ESG principles starts with our greatest asset, our employees. We aspire to create a culture that intentionally attracts and retains talented employees to work in an engaging and energetic team environment with a shared passion for innovation, transparency, and excellence. We expect our vendors to treat people with respect and dignity, encourage diversity, promote equal opportunity for all, and help create an inclusive and ethical culture.

Community Engagement

RPT continues to support local community organizations through charitable giving and volunteerism. Charities are identified by the RPT Charity Committee, with input from employees. Accordingly, RPT team members receive approved time off to donate their time and effort.

In addition to RPT's philanthropic endeavors, we proudly engage with our shopping center communities to turn commercial ground into common ground. Key examples of our community-focused programming include:

- RPT supported the Friendship Circle nonprofit organization at our Michigan-based shopping centers by designating parking spaces for individuals with special needs.
- Walking Clubs promoted connecting and forming friendships with other members of the community in addition to staying active and motivated.
- The Get Fit Exercise Series enabled fitness tenants to utilize common area space to conduct outdoor fitness classes.
- Family-friendly "Touch-A-Truck" events hosted in partnership with our local municipalities allowed children and their parents an opportunity to see, touch and learn about a wide variety of vehicles and how they service our communities.
- Little Free Libraries were installed to build community, inspire our shoppers to read and increase book access for all through facilitating neighborhood book exchanges.
- RPT believes art uplifts communities. We took pride in partnering with local artists to adorn our shopping centers with impactful murals to celebrate diversity. These works of art engaged our shoppers, created unique experiences and cultivated a cultural identity through expressing our communities' values.
- Recycling drives in which e-waste, gently used apparel and usable household goods were collected and donated.

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

In 2021, RPT formalized its DE&I program through the establishment of a dedicated committee that focused on the pillars of Talent, Culture, Community Outreach, and the Commercial Real Estate Industry.

In 2021, we concentrated efforts on developing effective strategies to recruit and attract a more diverse applicant pool for position vacancies. We executed on this strategy in several ways. We vetted third party recruiters to ensure their DE&I practices aligned with RPT's goal of conscious inclusion. We also partnered with Jopwell, an organization that represents and advances careers for Black, Latinx, and Native American students and professionals. Over the course of 2021, RPT's workforce increased by 19%. Of our new hires 25% were racially and/or ethnically diverse, resulting in a 5% increase in racial and/or ethnic diversity in 2021 from 2020. As of December 31, 2021, 56% of RPT's workforce were female.

In keeping with our desire to mitigate unconscious bias in our organization, a mandatory Inclusive Leadership workshop was held for all RPT managers. The training was conducted by our third party partner, Fletcher Consulting. During the training, the team explored the challenges facing managers of diverse teams and developed practical strategies for diminishing bias and being inclusive leaders.

The committee also endeavors to do its part to help close the opportunity gaps for underrepresented groups within the commercial real estate industry. As such, we successfully made outreach to several Historically Black Colleges and Universities in 2021. Our efforts resulted in providing a leasing internship to a student who was interested in learning about the industry. Additionally, we partnered with the International Council of Shopping Centers to provide two mentorships through its Launch Academy initiative. Internally, we strive to bring DE&I education, awareness, and personal perspective into the organization to reduce cultural distance that may be felt among individuals from different backgrounds.

In 2021, a DE&I page was created on RPT's intranet. The page is dedicated to bring awareness and education of diverse and underrepresented groups. The page also allowed the opportunity for team members to offer personal perspective pieces titled "In my Shoes." One example included a team member describing his experience as being a young black man growing up in Detroit, and another about her experience as being a working mom and the impacts of the pandemic on her work life balance. We also offered several educational opportunities in an effort to raise awareness and support of underrepresented groups. Integrate Autism Employment Advisors presented a lunch and learn to educate the team on the importance of neurodiversity inclusion in the workplace.

RPT's purpose of Turning Commercial Ground into Common Ground is evident in the communities where our employees work and where our shopping centers are located. The stewardship of community is vitally important to us. In 2021 RPT aligned its charitable and DE&I efforts to intentionally support organizations that advocate and champion underrepresented groups. These organizations included National Urban League, Dress for Success, Autism Speaks, Friendship Circle, The Point Foundation, Upwardly Global, Disabled American Veterans and Special Olympics. RPT also donated nearly $40,000 from corporate and employee giving. The employee's at RPT are passionate about donating their time and talent too. While the COVID-19 pandemic continued to delay RPT's otherwise robust in-person volunteerism, we were proud to continue to offer virtual volunteering activities. However, when the opportunity lent itself to in person advocacy our team was there! In November, teams throughout our markets supported the Disabled American Veterans at their Annual DAV 5K.

Bringing advocacy and awareness to our shopping centers is also important to the DE&I Committee. We did this in various ways that included a "Light it up Blue" campaign at several of our shopping centers in the month of April to support Autism Speaks. Additionally, in June recognition of PRIDE month, messages of love and belonging were conveyed during our "Chalk it Up to Love" event. RPT also used its social media platforms to feature its diverse tenants. In February and March, black-owned and women-owned businesses were promoted on LinkedIn and Instagram. In all, 27 social media spotlights were featured in 2021.

Employees

Training

The training and development of our talent is critical. - REIT 101 Training
- Business Ethics Training
- Advanced Excel Training
- Effective Time Management

Employee Benefits and Wellness

To facilitate the attraction, retention and promotion of a talented and diverse workforce, RPT provides competitive compensation, comprehensive benefits, and health and wellness programs. We provide competitive compensation packages to our employees, which in addition to base salaries include annual bonuses, stock awards, and participation in a 401(k) Plan with a company match. Our comprehensive benefits package offers flexible and convenient health and wellness options such as health insurance benefits, health savings and flexible spending accounts, paid time off, family leave, parental leave and family care resources. Throughout the pandemic, we have emphasized the importance of mental wellness and have offered several virtual healthcare options.

On an ongoing basis, RPT further promotes the health and wellness of our associates by encouraging work-life balance through our flexible work initiatives, and by sponsoring various wellness programs and corporate challenges, whereby employees are encouraged to incorporate healthy habits into their daily routines.

Ongoing COVID-19 Focus

In 2021, the COVID-19 pandemic continued to have an impact on virtually every aspect of our lives. RPT remained focused on its purpose, Turning Commercial Ground into Common Ground, and its principles of humanity and innovation to guide our decision making.

Throughout 2021, the Human Resources team stayed informed and current on all pandemic developments, communicating with our employees on a regular basis. We implemented return to office protocols that aligned with Center for Disease Control and World Health Organization recommendations and updated those protocols as the pandemic landscape evolved throughout the year. The health and safety of our employees and visitors were, and continue to be, top priority.

We kept morale high by staying connected and engaged through company-wide virtual gatherings and activities. RPT's LIVEWell Committee hosted interactive programming that enhanced employee well-being and mental health including a comprehensive virtual wellness program, webinars, the “Headspace” meditation app and paid time off for mental health. We also promoted the importance of physical well-being by holding quarterly Steps Challenges, encouraging healthy eating and physical activity. Wellness Wednesdays also brought the team together virtually and allowed employees to participate in remote fitness classes.

To ensure safe operations at our shopping centers and to help prevent the spread of COVID-19, we extended and expanded our innovative strategies to keep our team, tenants and shoppers healthy. RPT maintained the tenant-facing COVID-19 resource page on our website as well as a blueprint containing health and safety strategies, recommendations and guidelines. Consistent with our purpose of Turning Commercial Ground into Common Ground, collaboration with our tenants was critical in ensuring these measures were effective. Furthermore, we expanded our proprietary CURBIE Priority Pickup program consisting of dedicated 15-minute “Pickup Only” parking spaces which made pickup and curbside delivery convenient, fast and safe. We remained nimble and flexible throughout the year to adapt to the shifting needs and priorities to best serve our tenants and customers.

RPT's efforts to uphold strong business ethics are solidified in the RPT Realty Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, which is available on the company website. "Execute with Integrity" is one of our core values. The "Code of Business Conduct and Ethics" reflects our commitment to uncompromising integrity at all levels of the organization and in all of its business relationships and transactions. Towards that end, the standards of conduct are enforced at all organizational levels and communicated to employees. In 2021 all employees completed discrimination, harassment and retaliation prevention as well as training on RPT's Code of Business Conduct and Ethics.

As an expansion on the internal Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, RPT also employs a Vendor/Contractor Code of Conduct & ESG Sustainability for ensuring that internal standards are being met by associated organizations and that vendors reflect similar values in terms of ethics and commitment to ESG. The Asset Management vendors are required to acknowledge and agree to abide by the Vendor/Contractor Code of Conduct & ESG Sustainability prior to commencing any work with RPT.

Overall, company ethics and values are established by Chief Executive Officer, Brian Harper, with the support of the General Counsel, the Head of Human Resources, and the Chief Accounting Officer.

Cybersecurity

RPT's security posture balances the need for continuous technology updates and improvements with employee awareness, education, and coaching. The blend of these considerations allows for a comprehensive approach to cybersecurity. An objective review of security is critical to a balanced overall assessment.

RPT engages outside experts to perform the following services:

Security Operations Center (SOC)

- RPT partners with Skout Cybersecurity who provide SOC services that monitor the RPT network activity and alert to any suspicious activity.
- Should RPT encounter an attempted break, the SOC assists in the investigation and remediation of threats.

CYBERSECURITY

Network Protection

- Annually, RPT engages a third party (CBI Secure) for internal and external penetration testing of the network to ensure potential threats and vulnerabilities are identified and remediated.
- RPT conducts reviews and assessments of risk areas to further address the prevention of security threats.

Technology plays a major role in the development of a security program as well as the ability to prevent threats and compromises. Some technologies used by RPT include:

Endpoint Detection and Response (EDR)

- Enhanced EDR is installed on all Laptops/Desktops/Servers as an additional layer of protection.
- EDR scans the devices for malicious activity and unapproved executables.

Advanced Firewall Protection

- RPT uses next generation firewall protection from Palo Alto on all internet connections that exist at our offices and centers.
- RPT Palo Alto firewalls are configured to participate in Threat Sharing. This feature allows the devices to pull the latest threat data from validated sites across the internet and immediately provide updates to the firewalls to block the latest attacks.
- Web filtering and attachment sandboxing is a feature that filters known malicious sites and exploits as well as pulls suspicious content into a sandbox for deeper analysis before delivering to the recipient.

Email

- RPT uses Mimecast for email threat scanning. Any emails coming in or leaving the organization are scanned by Mimecast for malicious links and attachments.
- To aid employees with the identification of potentially dangerous emails, RPT deploys an additional layer of email protection from Inky that labels each email with a color-coded banner to alert of potentially dangerous content.

While technology and assessments will enhance the legitimacy and validity of a security program, nothing compares to investing in the people with security education.

Training

- RPT employees receive a weekly "Scam of the Week" newsletter. This keeps them up to date on the latest threats that they may encounter.
- Monthly training modules via a third-party training provider are delivered to all RPT employees who are required to complete.
- Should an RPT employee struggle with identifying potential threats delivered through testing, they are enrolled in additional training and provided 1 on 1 coaching to aid them in the future.

Testing

- Monthly randomized phishing tests selected by a third-party provider intended to challenge RPT employees in different ways.
- Monthly customized phishing tests from scenarios that relate directly to RPT business functions, events and people.

Governance Structure and Committees

RPT's Board of Trustees guides RPT's overall strategic plan. The Board is comprised of the Audit Committee, Executive Committee, Compensation Committee, and the Nominating & Governance Committee.

RPT recognizes the importance of having a diverse Board comprised of different skill sets, professional backgrounds, ages, ethnicities and genders. Starting in 2018, we focused on refreshing the Board to enhance the depth and breadth of experience of our trustees and to add new perspectives. We have achieved this by:

- Adding three trustees so that 50% of RPT's independent trustees are women and 17% of the independent trustees are racially and/or ethnically diverse.
- Reducing average trustee tenure from 18 years to 8 years.
- Appointing two female committee chairs.

Governance and ESG

In 2019, we formed the ESG Committee which is comprised of RPT leaders and employees throughout our business units. RPT CEO Brian Harper, who is also a trustee, is the executive sponsor of RPT's ESG Program. The ESG Committee, a cross-functional and diverse committee comprised of employee representatives throughout RPT, reviews, coordinates the agenda, strategy and goals for RPT's ESG Program and makes recommendations for approval by RPT's CEO. The ESG Program's goals, priorities and progress are reported to the Board on a quarterly basis which ensures engagement across RPT's leadership. In addition to the ESG Committee, RPT also has a Steering Committee, which reviews the plans created by the ESG Committee with a focus to ensure ESG proposals are fully integrated with the Company's overall business strategy. The Steering Committee meets on an as needed basis. The Board has designated the Nominating & Governance Committee to oversee our ESG-related efforts and receives periodic updates from management on ESG-related topics and provides high-level guidance to our management team on such topics.

All employees are welcome to submit proposals to the ESG Committee, allowing for ESG initiatives to be generated from any level of the company. The best of these ideas enjoy strong support from RPT's management team to carry them through to fruition.

We also recognize the importance of ESG to our shareholders. For 2021, we considered ESG goals as part of the subjective executive performance component of our 2021 annual incentive program. For 2022, ESG goals will be an even larger, separate component of the annual bonus opportunity for RPT's named executive officers.

RPT understands the importance of risk governance and mitigation. The Board is responsible for overseeing RPT's risk management including identifying, assessing and mitigating the most significant risks facing RPT. To this end, the Board and its committees consult with management to evaluate strategic risk management.

Risk and Resilience

Risk Governance and Mitigation

In 2021, RPT implemented an ERM program which is sponsored and overseen by Chief Financial Officer, Michael Fitzmaurice and RPT's Audit Committee, which includes an internal Risk Committee that governs RPT's operational, financial, and legal risk. ERM is embedded in the fabric of our culture, allowing risk to be considered more openly and enabling us to work horizontally across the Company to manage risk. We believe that this ERM program will allow RPT to effectively and efficiently manage risk for the Company's existing assets and future growth opportunities, positioning us to create value for all of our stakeholders.

We recognize the importance of being prepared for existing and future changes to the climate, along with potential climate-driven extreme weather events. We currently maintain “all risk” replacement cost insurance for our buildings, rents and personal property, commercial general liability insurance and pollution and environmental liability insurance. These policies provide coverage against potential losses and allow for recovery from climate-related events. Additionally, we have developed property-specific plans and procedures for high-risk sites that follow local and state codes. We continue to assess the need for adopting additional policies to prepare sites for potential transition risks (policy and legal issues, technological issues, market issues, asset labels and certifications) and additional physical risks (environmental factors and outcomes, extreme weather events) according to changing climate conditions.
